THE APPEAL FOR 1876. The Memphis APPEAR has just enlarity, and brilliant as has been its record in the past, the proprietors enter upon the Centennial year with a desentative journal of the southwest. Not withstanding the hard times, the cirnewspaper during the present year will be more than ever instructive and indispeneable to the public. Momentous questions are to be discussed; it will be a year of agitation and extraordinary events. We will have elections, local and national, for State legislatures and governors, for a new congress, and a new President. Important events will be of daily occurrence. Stirring issues are shaping for the political contest, State and national. The APPEAL will be found abreast of all progress, fully up to the times. Price of middling same time last corruptions of Grantism and Radicalism, the APPHAL will from day to day preach the gospel of Democratic truth, and insist on a clean Democratic organization. The rolllical drift is leading the public to understand that every man must decide which cause he will serve, and the current indicates most plainly that there will be but two parties in future elections-the one Democratic, the other Republican. There is no alterna- 100. ty, and it should have but one and the same name throughout the Union. There is no coherence or nationality in a party that assumes different names in different localities. In the northern States the enemies to the corruptions of Radicalism, call themselves Democrats: in Virginia, Conservatives; in Tennesree, Democrats and Conservatives; in other States, Democrats and Liberal-Republicans. When a party thus assumes different names, it becomes a jarring faction, made up of odds and ends, without ordinary, 10 15 16c; low middling, 12 3homogeneity or nationality. THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE Was not crowded yesterday, in fact those present constituted themselves into a sort of committee to consider how the amount of company can be increased. The general opinion is that the disappointment of having so few visitors is owing to the practice of their running to the stores before the 'change opens, so that there is little inducement for buyers to attend, and without them what does question of supporting a regular 'change is before the business people of Mem-phis. That such an institution is re-sols—for money, 94 3-16; on account. agements—to permanently establish such an institution, is good proof that the necessity for it is felt. If it is a necessity, and yet the city is left without it, it is at the expense of damage to our commerce, and will work to the advantage of rivals who do support a 'change. Whether Memphis can afford to do without an institution found in other business cities to be indispensable, is certainly worth reflection. If we throw away the advantages a 'change confers, mo ning to consider this subject, and mercantile designs who wish the and to be furnished with every requisite for success, will only be consulting their own interest by attending. It may prove, however, that "what is everybody's business, is nobody's business,' and so remain unattended to. Corn was offering without a demand for an advance, and was freely taken at the former rate; sales of 250 and 456 sacks at 42c, and 300 sacks, in lots, at 43c. Ear corn was in small offering; 50 sacks changed hands at 42c. Oats are dull; holders are dissatisfied with prices, but the low rate at which corn can be obtained forbids any material advance; 160 sacks sold between dealers at 62s for mixed. Bran shows no strength; there was a sale of 350 sacks at $13.75. Potatoes were, if possible, even more demoralized than before; we heard of a lot changing bands at $1 08, but the particulars were kept quiet; a lot at $1 10 was also talked of; 100 barrels of russets and early rose sold at 125 barrels of Michigan peachblows, in store by lots, at $1 60 and $1 65. Apples exception of mess pork, which remained steady at $20 75 to $21@21 25 for hard steady at $20 75 to $21@21 25 for hard side and standard in lots, the market showed signs of essing up, and none of the other hog product maintained its previous strength outside of the mere previous strength outside of the mere
